

Loving SAP

Kevin Avent

My ode to a fleecy cloud, they call you SAP
At night I dream about your style and grace, your infernal complexity

SAP I love you, just let me count the ways
Is it because I've known you now, for more than 90 days?

I love your ease of logon, so simple can't you see
I also dig your system with its incredible security

I marvel at your interface with its speed and flexibility
One thing I've often wondered, what exactly is R3?

To use your menu driven navigation, sometimes can take its toll
I hear so many users mumbling something about a ten-foot pole

Some say your screens are scary, they can be quite a shock
They're almost like when you trick-or-treat, and say "I got a rock!"

SAP I love you so, thou I'm just a mere mortal
It's your BAPIs and your RFCs, that give life to our portal

Remembering all those transactions names, it's really not so hard
I just need a slot in my head, to insert a memory card

In the current version I find peace, tranquility
I guess I'll have to hold my breath, until they upgrade to 4.6d

So to you SAP, all my love I send
What I really admire about you most, is your big robust back end!
